

The Actors Equity Foundation invites you to attend...
EXTRA special....

A seminar for EXTRAS - and Actors working as Extras - in film, television and television commercials production...

Extras in film, television and television commercials are often the forgotten people in the film and television industry but role is crucial to the success of productions. Without the crowd scenes, the background scenes and the featured Extra, the story cannot be told. However, while invisible to the audience, issues for the Extras are anything but.

This is an opportunity for Extras working in the professional film, television and television commercials production industry to discuss the following issues.

- The role of the Extra and the Featured Extra on set
- What directors and assistant directors expect on set
- The importance of protocols on set for extras, actors and crew
- The role of the agent and how they can maximise opportunities
- What to expect and ask for when Extras are upgraded and asked to speak lines or interact with main cast...
- The actor working as an extra
- Career opportunities, if any
- Rights, conditions on sets, release forms, agreement and what to do when things go wrong...
